North East England
White-beaked Dolphin Lagenorhynchus albirostris

March 2024

This catalogue features White-beaked Dolphins recorded off the coastline of Northumberland, Tyneside and County Durham from 2010-2024. These were primarily photographed from small boats: Sarah JFK (until 2013), JFKTWO (2014 onwards), Ocean Explorer, Glad Tidings V, PV St Oswald (until 2014), PV St Aidan (2015 onwards).

The growth of interest in cetacean observations in North East England has led to the development of an incredible citizen science network between the Scottish Border and the Humber. The admin team of the North East Cetacean Project have kept both of us sane during an intense period of photo analysis. The Berwick Dolphin Watch, Dolphin Spotting NE and North East Cetacean Project Facebook groups have members who are observing year-round in all weathers, and we dedicate this catalogue to all of their citizen scientists who are driving the marine conservation discussion forward in NE England. We hope this catalogue will prove a valuable resource for observers at sea, and a source of inspiration and encouragement to wonder about this enigmatic and elusive dolphin that mainly visits the nearshore areas of our region between the late Spring and the early Autumn.

A huge thank you goes to Katie Hackett, who takes the data that is generated from transect surveys, casual observations, and photo-ID matching, and does all of the analysis, mapping and reporting that isn't our comfort zone.

Professor Tom Brereton, Dr Rachel Davies, Dr Chiara Bertulli and Rachael Milor all provided valuable insight and support, during the creation of earlier incarnations of the catalogue.

In addition to the authors, images were also gratefully received from Andrew Burr, Steve Crow, Geoff Morgan, Josh Reid, Steve Sheehan and Kim Willis.

The catalogue is the result of cross-sector collaboration, and funding from Natural England. All data and images are copyrighted.
